

Publication of Departmental Wall Magazines

The students of the College have always been encouraged to cultivate their creative faculty through the college magazine and wall-magazines published by respective departments. The publications always come under the editorship of the students and supervision of the faculty members. The medium of the publication are usually Assamese and English. Competition among the wall magazine is held during the Annual College Week Festival and the best among various categories are awarded in the prize distribution ceremony.

Thus, the college magazine is published by the students annually. Besides, most departments have own wall magazines brought out by the students under the guidance of the faculty members. These are:
